Profs sell writing to Post, Monitor

Martin Tonn, who directs special education services at the college and who writes frequently on a number of subjects, both learned and popular, has reported receiving confirmation of acceptance from the Saturday Evening Post.

Mr. Tonn's article, to appear in a forthcoming issue, will be published in the magazine department entitled "The Perfect Squelch" and it is of a humorous nature.

Another MSC teacher who writes in his spare time, Dr. William Gillis of the language and literature department, reports having sold a series of three articles and a set of photographs to the Christian Science Monitor, international daily newspaper published in Boston.

The articles and pictures, which concern travel in Turkey, where Dr. Gillis taught for a year, are slated to appear soon.

'58 grad selected for Aetna course

Morlan M. Johnson, a 1958 graduate of MSC, recently completed an intensive course in the creation and arrangement of life insurance estates in Hartford, Conn., the home office of Aetna Life Insurance Company.

In a letter to the Mistic, R. B. Collidge, Aetna National senior vice president said: "It is a genuine pleasure to be able to call this to your attention because only men who have met the company's exacting qualifications are invited to attend these courses."

SC hears Satin, Owls' report, plan

Student interest in the fine arts series was reported by Dr. Joseph Satin at the Nov. 17 meeting of the Student Commission. Dr. Satin reported that 478 students had purchased tickets to the Gielgud performance.

The Owls, represented by Henry Hettwer, proposed a "planned week end" program. The Owls suggested a Friday night movie, Saturday night dance, and keeping the library open on Saturday and Sunday.

It was decided by the commission the Owls should meet with other groups on campus who had previously suggested week end plans, and a decision would be concluded.

After a long winter's nap, print shop workers Lloyd Hoselton, Tom Nordby, and Dean Schmitz along with other Mistic workers went back to work this week to bring this publication to its readers.

The honored guest

A few weeks ago I was at a funeral. The honored guest was a fifteen year old boy who had been killed in a traffic accident.

Have you ever been to a funeral of a young friend who was killed in this manner? Do you know how it feels to realize that this fellow who was alive and laughing a few days ago is dead now and shall never laugh again, shall never have a chance to reach his potentialities?

Each year thousands of Americans are killed in this manner. This means that each year a great many families are left without a father to provide for them, or a mother to guide them along the road of life, or without a child to enrich the family life and in whom rested the dreams of others.

Is this necessary? Is it inevitable that so many people should experience this great tragedy? It is neither inevitable nor necessary. Life was granted for a greater purpose then to end in this kind of slaughter.

Why do so many tragedies like this occur? These tragedies occur because you are too busy or too lucky or because you have some other excuse for not watching out for your life.

You know that just because you take this corner at fifty miles an hour you won't land in the ditch and in the coffin with your fellow Americans who also knew that it wouldn't happen to them this time. The cause of these tragedies, then, is you.

America and the world needs your labor and your talents too much to have you give them up in this inconsiderate way. The effect of these accidents on our country is truly disastrous, for what is America going to do without her young, who are most often the victims.

There can be no purpose in telling you how dangerous speed is, or how long a space it takes for a car to stop after the brakes are applied. You already know this.

You also know it won't be you who becomes Moorhead's next traffic victim. You will retain your careless driving habits and one of these days you will be the honored guest and it will be your parents and your friends who will grieve. But then, it couldn't happen to you so don't give it a second thought.

Foreman to preach

by Diane Fox

"Yes, in four more years I'll be a Lutheran pulpit-pounder," grinned Larry Foreman, Student Commission president.

Larry, a social studies major, is a native of Peoria, Illinois, and plans to enter the seminary in Rock Island, Illinois, next year.

Having served as religion commissioner last year, he ran successfully for president and stated that his work now, apart from presiding over meetings, lies in keeping a working contact between the faculty and the student body, with the commission as a kind of intermediate.

Larry informed me, when I inquired about his other activities, that he is first and foremost a proud husband and father. He also announced that there will be a new arrival in February and added with a twinkle in his eye, "This time I have my order in for a boy."

An active member of Alpha Epsilon fraternity and Circle K, he is also studying Greek at another local college.

"I would like to emphasize," he declared, "that commission meetings are open to the public, and we are really glad to have students come and make known their opinions and suggestions."

"Our student government is the strongest in the state," he concluded. "Even the University's government doesn't control student body funds as ours does."

Anyone for a 100x50 inch personalized full color bullfight poster? Or a year in Scandinavia? Or how about six weeks' summer study at the University of Hawaii.

Just a sampling of the mail a newspaper gets every day. Today's Mistic mail included letters from Spain, London, Switzerland, Denmark, and the usual US post marks.

The Spanish mail advertised the bullfight posters mentioned above. Seems that for only $5 you can purchase a giant size poster with your name on it.

Denmark's envelope included a booklet on study and daily contacts with Scandinavian schools and families.

From London we got a letter from a Britisher wanting the names of students interested in writing to English youth of similar interests.

Foreign job opportunities for next summer (open to US college students) were listed in the Swiss letter. Incidentally, jobs are open in Germany, Scandinavia, England, Austria, Switzerland, France, Italy, and Spain. The American-European Student Foundation sponsors this particular placement service. The foundation is a non-profit organization.

Hawaiian summer school study opportunities, costs, etc. were listed in the letter from Hawaii.

Two years ago an MS miss attended the Vienna Youth Festival in Russia. Today we received a letter stating that the festival is, it has been discovered, sponsored by two organizations which are in actuality Communist front groups. They are the World Federation of Democratic Youth and the International Union of Students. This is according to the Independent Service for Information on the Vienna Youth Festival.

Finally, today's mail included an article from the Health Information Foundation . . . according to the foundation the "weaker sex" is, from a health standpoint, stronger. Female life expectancy at birth is more than six years longer than the life expectancy of the male sex.

If you're interested in a personalized bull fight poster, etc., etc. come up to the publications office, room 208, MacLean . . . we have all the information.

Should I Join?

A list of clubs behind one's name in a year-book or teaching application is impressive, but it does not always give a true picture of the individual.

This is so because many join a club just for the sake of joining, or perhaps, at times, to win a coveted position.

No one should be a "joiner" just to satisfy selfish personal needs. Any worthwhile club deserves active support of all its members. If the club does not get this support it degenerates into something less than a useful organization.

A person should first decide if he can make a worthwhile contribution. Only then should he join, keeping in mind that he should always make his membership as worthwhile to the club as he expects the club to be to him.

Editor's note

During the week of final exams the Mistic received a letter deserving of publication. However, due to the examinations we did not print a Mistic. And had we gone to press we could not have printed the letter (which dealt with "cheating" on finals) because the writer did not sign the letter.

We repeat: we cannot print letters which have not been signed. We will withhold names by request, but we (or rather, I) must know by whom the Letter was written for the protection of the writer and for the protection of the Mistic.

Kay Colwell Rosengren

To the Editor:

As a Pastor of a Church in this community serving students and faculty from both Moorhead State and Concordia may I make a reply to Mr. Vernon T. Harrison's letter concerning A "Christian College" in the November 13 issue of the Mistic.

In all kindness, it must be pointed out that Mr. Harrison does not understand at all the definition of a Christian College. A Christian College is not Christian because it supports free thought, democratic principles, a belief in God, religious freedom, choice of personal habits or any of the fine ideals Mr. Harrison rightly claims are not the monopoly of a Christian school. A Jewish or Moslem school could lay claim to the same ideals. A Christian College is not Christian because the majority of its students and faculty may confess the Christian faith and live according to Christian ideals.

A school is Christian when its basic presuppositions are that Jesus Christ is the sole revelation of God, that all knowledge is grounded in God as He is known through Christ, and that the purpose of Christian education is to impart a point of view which relates all life and truth to Him whom Christianly declares to be the Truth. It's spirit, it's curriculum and it's life are aimed in this direction.

Now, in the American system of separation of Church and state, state supported education cannot be predicated on this viewpoint nor is it allowed to promulgate it any more than it can foster Judaism or Mohammedanism. Hence, no state school can be called a Christian College. This is not to say that there are not Christians on the campus of a state school, or that Christian ideals are not practiced or that the school is anti-Christian. It may even have more Christian professors and students than a Christian school. But, by the very nature of the case, it cannot, under our American system be called a Christian College, and if it attempted to be such, in the terms which we have defined, Christians and the Christian Church should be the first to oppose such an attempt.

Moorhead State and Concordia are both great schools. The level of education in both is excellent. Let us keep the distinction clear, however, that MS is a state school, and therefore must develop its educational philosophy without adherence to Christianity, Hinduism, Mohammedanism or Judaism. Concordia, on the other hand, as a private Christian College can focus everything to the Christian faith. And, as Dr. Neumaier has pointed out so effectively in several addresses in our community, American education is best served by maintaining both kinds of education - one public, the other private, one secular and the other religious. Let both schools be honestly what they are intended to be - and each respect the other for what it is.

Sincerely,
Oscar A. Anderson

"Spotty," says Seal of squad

By Dick Seal

One's first impression of the Moorhead State 1958-59 edition of the basketball Dragons would simply be one word, unpredictable. In posting a 3-2 overall record, the Dragons have been mighty spotty but then have managed to play some real fine basketball.

Biggest disappointment thus far was at Duluth where the Dragons were beaten 78-58. Both teams were unsteady the first half and the score was a low 27-25 at halftime in favor of the defending MIAC champs. Outscored 51-33 in the final 20 minutes, Coach Larry MacLeod's Dragons were beaten severely.

Then against Superior State everything went wrong the second half. Leading by 15, the Dragons were ahead by 19 points with 17 minutes to go only to fall to defeat by two points.

On this basis, it is easy to see that the Dragons have been capable but they appear to lack the ability to stand prosperity.

Saturday night Mayville State Teachers invades MSC for a non-conference tussle. The visiting Comets have a 2-1 record on wins over the University of Manitoba and Bismarck JC. Their lone defeat came at the hands of Bemidji State.

Big guns in the Comet attack are center Alden Holte and forward Don McIntyre. Holte played his last two seasons with the Dragons and last year scored 80 points in 19 games.

Monday night another NDIAC foe, Minot State Teachers, comes to Moorhead State to meet the Dragons. Minot last played MSC in the finals of the 1956 Minot Invitational basketball tournament and lost 92-90. Coached by Herb Parker, the Beavers finished 12-4 in conference play last year.

Loel Frederickson handles the Moorhead State JV basketball squad which has a 1-1 record. After losing to the Concordia Frosh, the Dragon JV squad stopped the Wadena Air Base quintet.

Squad members include Dean Dahl of Barrett, Jerry Anton of Moorhead, Evan Oscarson of Wheaton, Marshall Shoquist of Minneapolis, Dennis Olson of West Fargo, Matt Casey of Graceville, Gary Swenson of Whapeton, N.D.; Roger Gunnufson of Gary, Jim Nagel of Moorhead, Allan Shogren of Alexandria, Darrel Mack of Mahanomen, Roman Walz of Wadena and Carl Erickson of Hawley.

Nagel, Shogren and Mack are members of the Dragon varsity squad.

Moorhead State has three freshmen on its 11-man varsity basketball squad in Shogren, Nagel and Jim Brown of Brainerd.

Shogren started the past two seasons for Alexandria and was a member of Alexandria's Resort Region co-championship team last year and the previous season played for a team that won the District 22 title and placed third in Region 6.

Nagel was the Resort Region Conference scoring champion last year and helped lead Breckenridge to the District 21 title and a second place finish in Region 6 behind Brainerd.

MSC unsteady, to face Comets

By Dick Seal

Mayville State Teachers is the third foe this week for the Moorhead State Dragons as the two schools meet in a non-conference basketball game at MSC Saturday night starting at 8:00. The Dragons have met Superior State and Concordia thus far in a busy week of basketball.

While the Comets of Mayville always are a perennial NDIAC power, Coach Al Meyer is not too optimistic after losing the services of standout forward and two time all-conference Harvey Keena. The 6-1½ Hamilton, N. D., senior died last Saturday of a heart ailment. Keena last year averaged 16.2 points per game in loop play.

Now, the likable Meyer has to pick a forward opposite Don McIntyre from either Jerry Bergene of Portland, N. D., Dan Evanson of Evansville or John Brayton of Hunter, N. D. Meyer, Tuesday afternoon, was uncertain who the spot would go to.

Meyer lists three lettermen on his team in Jim McChesney, a 6-foot guard from Mayville, N. D.; McIntyre, a 6-1 junior forward from Cavalier, N. D. and Brayton, a 6-foot forward from Hunter, N. D.

Evanson spent a freshman basketball season at Moorhead State and in high school played with Evansville's undefeated team during regular season play in 1952-53. Last year Evanson was one of the better players among the reserves.

Big guns in the Mayville Comet attack are McIntyre and center Alden Holte, a 6-2 rebounding standout from Halstad. Holte was a varsity member at Moorhead State the past two seasons.

Last year Mayville bowed 114-74 to a hot shooting MSC team as Sherm

Moe hit a record 39 points and Lowell Bolger 28.

Mayville has a 2-1 record to date with wins over the University of Manitoba and Bismarck JC. Their lone loss was to Bemidji State. In the win over Manitoba, McIntyre hit 23 points and Holte meshed 24.

The unpredictable Dragons have not "found" themselves as yet in posting a 3-2 record. They have been unsteady and at times show outstanding signs and then falter greatly. Against Duluth Branch they trailed by two at halftime and lost by 20 points. Monday night in dropping a 90-88 decision to Superior State the Dragons led by as many as 19 points in the second half. MSC was ahead by 15 at halftime.

Moe, Dragon scoring leader with 83 points in four games, hit 23 first half points against Superior but failed to hit a field goal in eight attempts during the second half. He went a sizzling 11 for 20 in the first 20 minutes during the first half.

Rod Zimmerman, 6-5 center from Herman, looked impressive against the Yellowjackets of Superior with 20 rebounds and 19 points. His 20 rebounds were just two short of tying his own school record of 22 set against Dakota Wesleyan last year as a sophomore. The big Herman prepster has been moving much better in the pivot and working the boards adequately.

With Jim Borwn, the Brainerd high school flash, working effectively in the backcourt, the Dragons may pull some surprises. Brown hits Zimmerman nicely with key passes and is the Dragons best feeder.

Freshmen stand out, Dragon matmen down NDAC, 36-5

Moorhead State College Dragons opened the 1958-59 wrestling season with a 36-5 win over the NDAC Bison Saturday night in the MSC gymnasium.

Including exhibition matches, the Dragons sent 6 freshmen into the ring and 5 returned with pins. Besides the freshmen, Rufus Bankole, Dick Lasch, and Ron Horn also gained pins.

Captain Henry Hettwer and Dave Montplaisir wrestled the full 9 minutes before gaining decisions.
